IMPORTANT INSTRUCTIONS (TERMS AND CONDITIONS)

- The cost for the participants is CHF 3'450. It is payable in three instalments to CHF 1'150 from the salary you will earn during internship. The guaranteed monthly gross salary in internship (incl. 13th salary) is CHF 3'653. In the tables on the tender document the approximate deductions are shown.
- The effective cost can vary due to local circumstances (different accommodation, number of meals in the company, etc.). SHA tries its best to not raise the total cost for the students.
- In case of discontinuation of the program, the participant is personally liable for the payment of the course. If the student withdraws after definitive admission, does not show up or terminates earlier, he owes SHA in addition to the school fees (if the course has been joined) an administrative penalty of CHF 300.
- All participants are insured in Switzerland by SHA and the employer against illness and accident according to Swiss legal regulations without any deductible at respective insurers. Attention: in Swiss health insurances no dental treatments are covered! We recommend making a liability insurance, to cover eventual damages a student causes.
- During the internship, students are under Swiss labour law and L-GAV for gastronomy. Beside the contractual guaranteed salary, they also get holidays and public holidays. During internship a five-day week with up to 45 hours a week (depending on the employer) is standard. The Employer has the right to require overtime and additional working days. They have to be compensated and if this is not possible, paid at the end.

- A suitable internship company is sought by SHA. The address of the employer will be communicated as soon as all formalities are done. Typically, this is short before the start of the program.
- SHA keeps the right, in case of insufficient skills and knowledge or deficient behaviour, to send students back at any time of the program. In such a case all services used (course) have to be paid immediate.
- With the signature of this registration the students agree that SHA processes electronically all data necessary for the program administration. SHA takes all up-to-date measures to protect data and personality of the students and commits not to forward the data elsewhere.
- Based on legal regulations (e.g. limitations due to a pandemic) the program can be cancelled, stopped or students can be put on furlough also with short time notice. As SHA has no influence on such decisions, it cannot be held responsible. We try our best to support the students in such a case to find best possible solutions. If students cannot participate at the program due to legal regulations, we do not ask for a penalty.
- This is a not authorised English translation. In case of any dispute the German version of this registration form is binding.
